

Fire Safety Risk Assessment & Training: Capability Statement

Fire Safety – Risk Assessment & Training

FIOR was launched in 2009 to provide a bespoke and 24/7 support service to a number of clients both nationally and internationally across a wide range of commercial operations including the retail, financial, security, legal, leisure and industrial manufacturing trade sectors. The company focuses in the main on the arenas of Fire Safety Risk Assessment and Training & Critical Incident Response planning and training.

The company was founded by Joe Holden and Tommy Mann who have operated for over two decades at Police and Fire Service executive management levels across the Central Scotland belt, UK national and international levels. Within FIOR Tommy leads as Director of Fire Safety Risk Assessment & Training and is also an accredited member of the I.F.S.M – all trainers engaged by FIOR meet the requirements of ‘approved person’ as specified by legislation.

Joe Holden leads as Director of Critical Incident Management and Carol Holden as Director of Finance & Business Development.

Legislation to improve fire safety in non-domestic premises in Scotland is now in force. Part 3 of the Fire (Scotland) Act requires anyone who manages, operates or has safety obligations for non-domestic premises to take steps to prevent and minimise the impact of fire. This includes owners, employers, employees, managers and other occupiers. Similar legislation is in place within other parts of the United Kingdom.

Fire certificates are abolished under the new system – with existing certificates becoming invalid. Instead, the new fire safety regime will be based on the principles of risk assessment and the requirement to both prevent fire and reduce its detrimental effects, to protect human life.

FIOR can provide a comprehensive and cost effective service to you that will embrace all the requirements of legislation, we are aware of the difficulties imposed on management by legislative change, requiring persons to have a comprehensive knowledge of fire safety matters. Our service will provide a risk assessment, training and advice to the highest standards.

FIOR’s preferred approach in engaging with clients in the potentially high risk arena of fire safety service is to engage as a ‘one stop shop’ service offering and delivering the following programme to the highest standard.

- Assess and audit the client’s current approach to fire safety
- Undertake a comprehensive Fire Risk Assessment
- Deliver a prioritised action plan to resolve identified issues
- Brief and support those members of staff identified to resolve issues within the Action Plan
- Provide Basic Fire Safety Awareness and Fire Warden training to staff
- Audit progress with the delivery of the Action Plan at 6 and 12 month stages
- Review Fire Risk Assessment on an annual basis
